

Media Advocacy Coalition responds to the attack on Misha Mshvildadze, the co-founder and presenter of Formula TV

Media Advocacy Coalition condemns the physical attack on Misha Mshvildadze, the co-founder and anchor of Formula TV. Attacks on media representatives in the country remain a serious challenge. The lack of action from the government regarding crimes against journalists, coupled with their hostile rhetoric towards critical voices and dissemination of targeted disinformation, only serves to further encourage such acts

According to the information of TV company "Formula", one of the founders, Misha Mshvildadze, was attacked and physically assaulted by an unknown person. According to Mshvildadze, "... he was punched in the face, then he fell down, and before he got up, the attacker continued to physically retaliate." [1]

The attack on a media outlet founder who expresses critical views against the government is a blatant attempt to curtail press freedom and hinder journalists from fulfilling their professional responsibilities.
