Further, in the last few hours GYLA's observers identified the following violations:

- Confrontation between activists of political forces outside precinct N8 of Saburtalo N3 District;
- The process of inking remained a problem at several precincts. The liquid does not leave a mark due to its poor quality. Despite complaints, polling continued with use of poor quality ink or without inking;

- Participation of persons who have already been inked in precinct N58 of Saburtalo N3 District;

- More voters are complaining in election precinct in Germany that although they have been registered with the consulate, their names aren't on the list. As of now, total of 19 subsequent complaints have been drawn up.

Election precincts were closing from 8:00pm and counting of votes started. It is important that will of voters expressed throughout the day are adequately and accurately reflected in summary protocols following the elections. We call on election commissions as well as political parties and monitoring organizations to do as much as they can for counting of votes in a peaceful environment and in full compliance with law.
